Mission Critical

Issues of Greatest Importance and Difficulty for Family Businesses

- 1 Resolving conflicts among family members who are in the business
- 2 Formulating a succession plan
- 3 Developing a strategic plan
- 4 Developing a retirement and estate plan
- 5 Ensuring that the family's core business values are maintained
- 6 Financial growth plan
- 7 Compensating family members in the business
- 8 Bringing family members into the business
- 9 Ensuring family members benefit from owning shares
- 10 Bringing non-family executives into the business
- 11 Transferring wealth and equity to family members not involved in the business
- 12 Transferring wealth outside the business

Challenges Facing Family Businesses

- 85% of the crises faced by the family business is focused around the issues of succession.¹
- According to the Small Business Association:²
 - 90% of America's businesses are family owned
 - 30% make it to 2nd generation
 - 12% survive to 3rd
 - 3% reach the 4th
- Primary reason is failure to properly structure a succession plan³
 - 90% agree on importance of exit planning
 - 33% have a business succession plan
 - Only 29% feel their team of advisors is qualified to help

The Process Driven Strategic Model and
Strategic Assessment

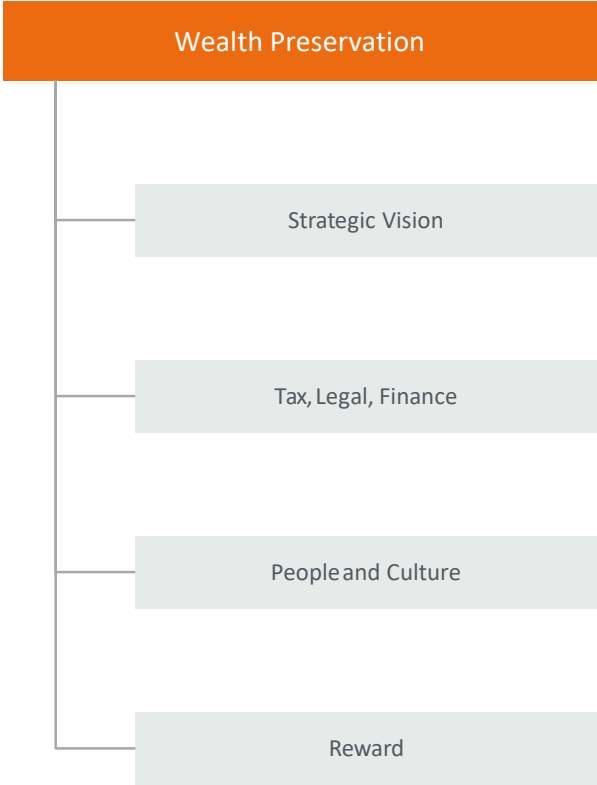

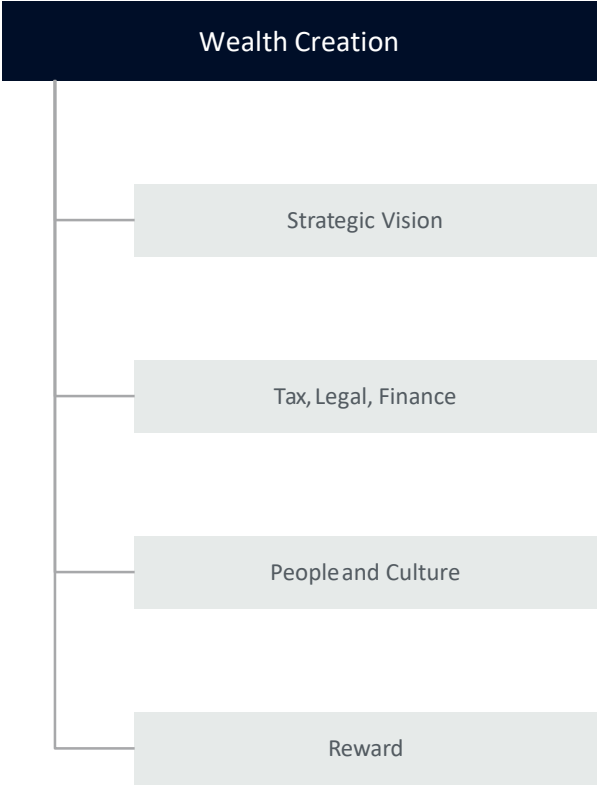

Transition by default can be a real juggling act. . .

...with serious consequences

The Drivers – Business and Family Dynamics

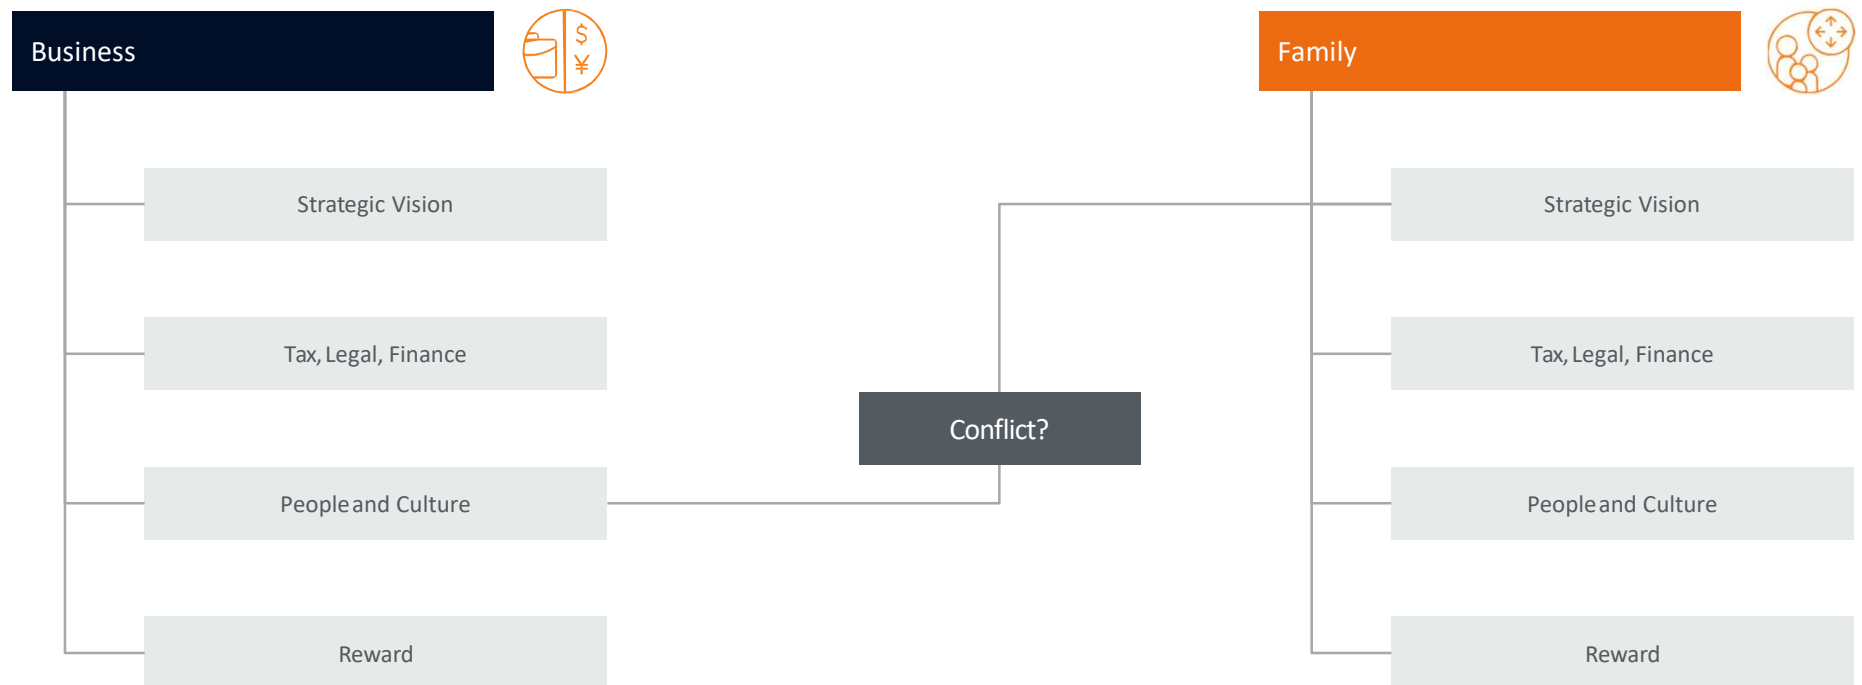

Strategic Assessment

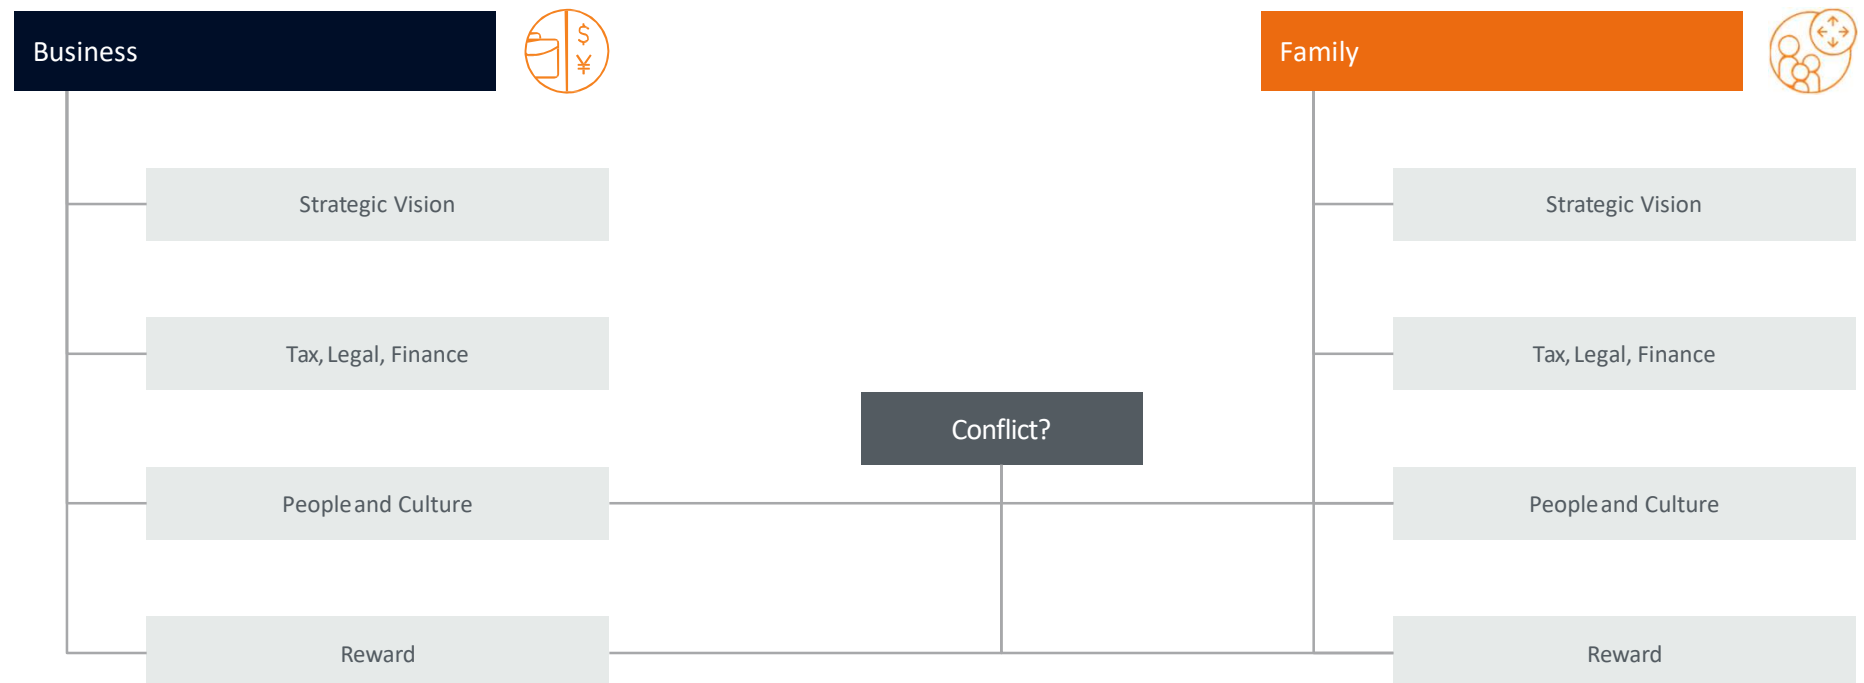

Final Phase: Resolve Conflicting Objectives – 1

- The owner of a family business envisions naming his son CEO.
- The CFO—a critical employee and NOT a family member—neither likes nor respects the son.
- In fact, the CFO, and others, will likely quit if the son is named CEO.

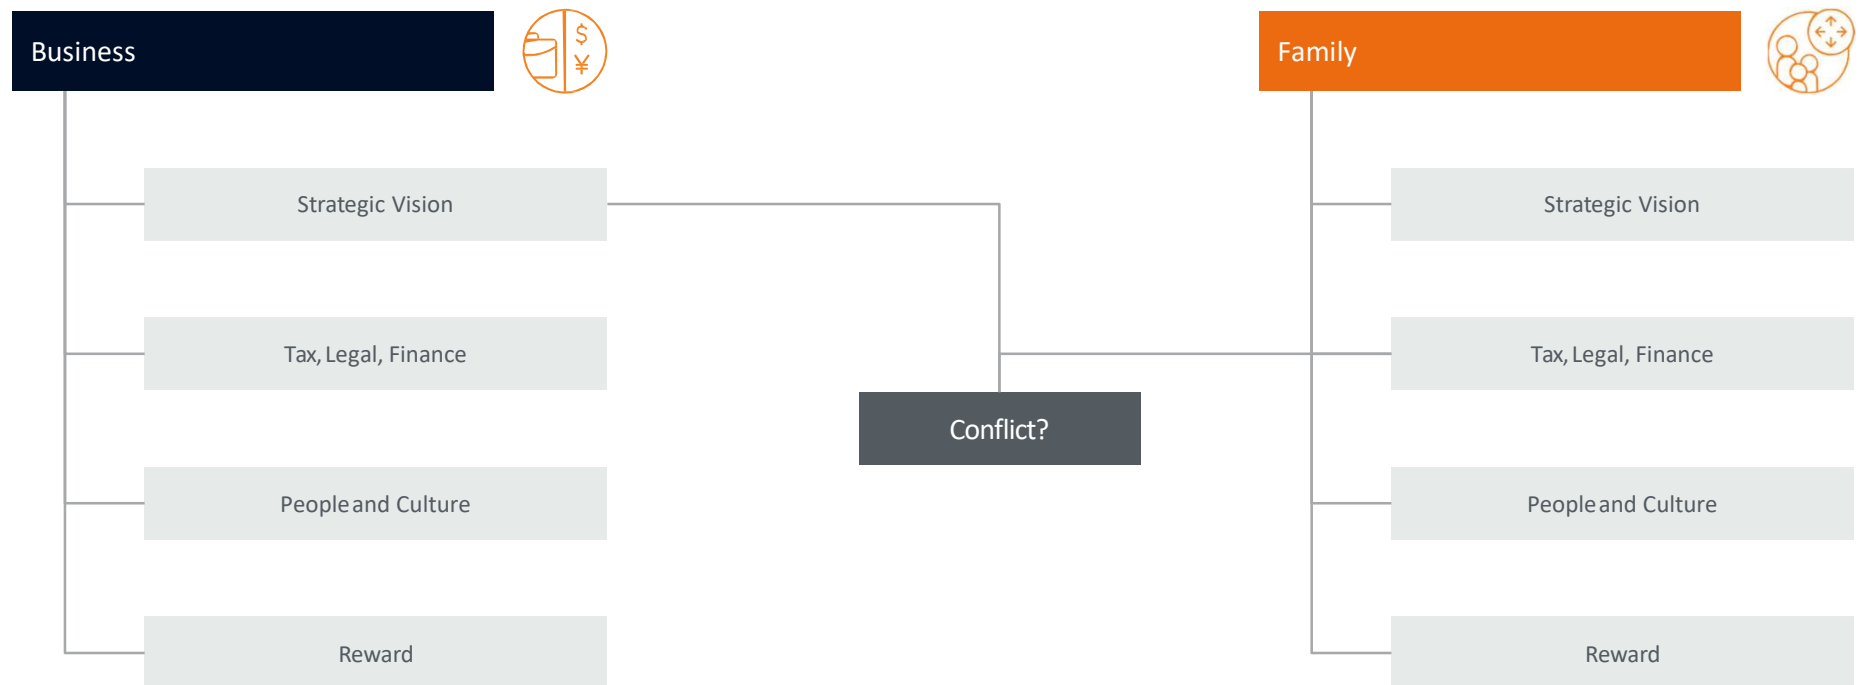

Final Phase: Resolve Conflicting Objectives – 2

- Kids in the family paid birthright v. market rate
- Non-family members know that family employees are being overpaid – they see cars, neighborhood, vacation, etc.

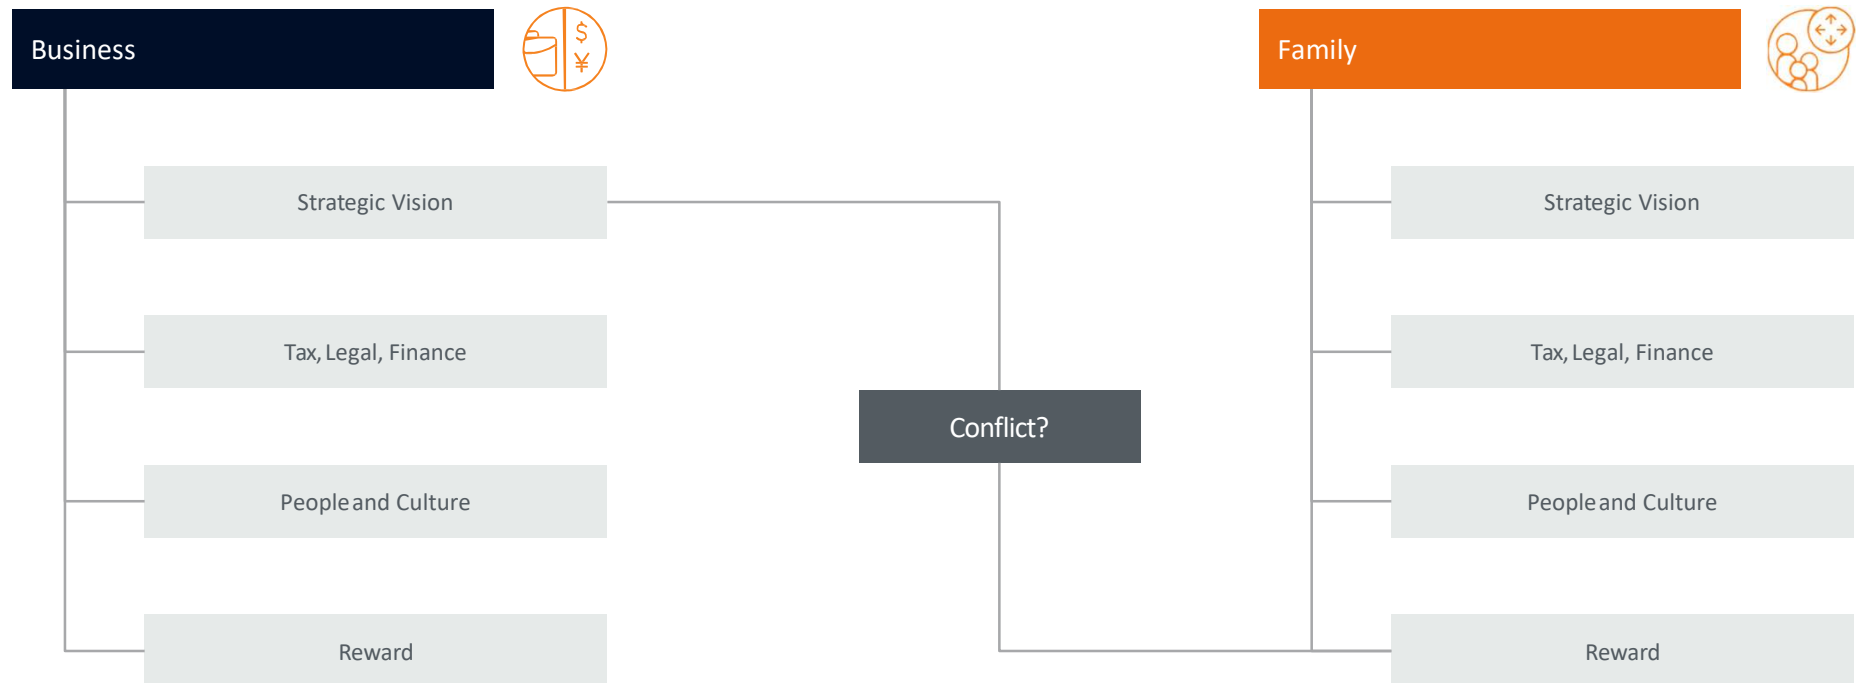

Final Phase: Resolve Conflicting Objectives – 3

- Business owner has a vision of growing the business but wants to retire soon.
- Growth will take cash
- Owner has liquidity needs at retirement.

Final Phase: Resolve Conflicting Objectives – 4

- Inactive family shareholders in business are frustrated with active family members being paid huge salary and receiving company car, while the inactives get low or no dividend
- Active kids say, “you are getting a free ride on my equity!”

Strategic Opportunities: Sale to Third Party

- Wear Hat of Buyer
 - Curb appeal
 - Assess drivers
 - Talented and likeable managers
 - Audited financials
- State of the Market
 - Frothy?
 - “Private equity firms now have more than $1 trillion of available capital. Expect more deals at higher prices.” – Fortune.com

Strategic Opportunities: Sale to Third Party

- What's It Worth?
 - Strategic vs. financial buyers
 - EBITDA vs. adjusted EBITDA
 - Multiplier
 - Industry specific
 - Growth prospects
 - Firm size
 - Established financial history
 - Earnings stability/volatility
 - Top talent in place
 - Owner participation
 - Concentrations
 - Unique vs generic product/service
- Strategic Positioning
 - “It’s not what you get – it’s what you keep
 - Long-term capital gain rate still low (20%).
 - Core Assets – Real Estate – Cash

Strategic Opportunities: The Rest of the Story

- Other Options
 - Internal management buy-out
 - ESOP
 - IPO
- Polishing the Apple
 - Knowledge is power!
 - Manage as a dual track process
 - Plan A as chosen with
 - Back-up Plan B
- Analyze value, cash flow, liquidity and risk

Changing Paradigms

Valuation Planning

The Old Paradigm

“I know what my business is worth based on the offers I get.”

Valuation Planning

The Old Paradigm

“I know what my business is worth based on the offers I get.”

The New Paradigm

“Valuation is an art . . . and a science.”

- Strategic $30 million
 - Financial $25 million
 - Estate $18 million
- Purpose driven
 - Preserve confidentiality

Family Business vs. Family Wealth

The Old Paradigm

“My grandparents started this business and I am keeping it for my kids and grandkids.”

Family Business vs. Family Wealth

The Old Paradigm

“My grandparents started this business and I am keeping it for my kids and grandkids.”

The New Paradigm

“The business world is more complicated than it used to be. My family wants to do something else.”

- Control of family wealth is more critical than control of family business
- Opportunity cost. Would you buy your business at the same price?

Static Documents vs. Dynamic Objectives

The Old Paradigm

“I own my business 100%, so no need for employment agreement, incentive plan or shareholder’s agreement.”

Static Documents vs. Dynamic Objectives

The Old Paradigm

“I own my business 100%, so no need for employment agreement, incentive plan or shareholder’s agreement.”

The New Paradigm

“I have to strategically position the business and wealth. Protect the business, my family and employees.”

- Keep
 - Death, disability and retirement
 - Ownership and management continuity
 - Establish rules of entry and family business governance
 - Market rate vs. birthright
- Transition to third party
 - Position/protect A-team players
 - Conflicting documents

Strategic Positioning – Next Steps

- Put Team together
 - AEP® is collaboration designation!
- Understand your options
- Learn where business and family goals are at cross-purpose—and align
- Establish legacy for future generations
- Plan and fund away the estate tax obligation

Important information

- As a New York State-chartered bank, Deutsche Bank Trust Company Americas is required by law, under penalty of sanctions, to ensure that securities held by it as a custodian are segregated on its books and records from the Bank's own assets. In addition, internal control procedures are in place to prevent clients' securities from being commingled with the Bank's own assets. As an additional safeguard, the information systems that record and account for clients' custodied securities are independent from the systems within the Bank which track and control the Bank's proprietary assets. These segregation requirements required by law are intended to protect securities of custody clients against claims of creditors of a bank. In the event that there are cash deposits in a client's custody account, i.e. a money market deposit account, and such deposits are held within the Bank, then those deposits would be entitled to deposit insurance provided by the FDIC, subject to the limitations provided by federal law.
